Sund Birsta Workshop Service

We want every part of your Sund Birsta equipment to be as good as when it was first put into use. When it comes to looking after you and your business/production, we are in it for the entire life span of the machines. In fact, we put as much pride into building a long-term relationship with you as we do into building and servicing our machines. Whenever you need it, you can expect advice and support from our customer service team. Day in, day out.

Every Sund Birsta unit has been meticulously developed to achieve the best precision and performance. And we produce spare parts to the same standards, with the same materials that went into the original unit.

Our workshop and our staff is equipped and trained to perfection. We apply the same level of expert knowledge and attention to detail in looking after your units that went into building it. From inspections to full machine rebuilds, we've got everything covered.

Each machine has its own unique service demands, and we also understand that each of our customers have their own individual requirements. Our services reflect that, and we deliver the best maintenance available for your Sund Birsta equipment.

SUND BIRSTA has since the beginning of 2022 a fully equipped workshop to handle all our key units and single machines.
